REBRANDING IS A MUST TO KEEP YOUR BUSINESS IMAGE FRESH, CURRENT, PROFESSIONAL & MODERN!

Do you need to rebrand your business?

Your brand is the public face of your business.

No business today can afford to rest on its laurels. Your business may be keeping up with economic and market changes but is your brand keeping pace?

Whatever your reason for rebranding; be it economic and operational expansion, technological innovation, growth and change, your company's brand must remain consistent with the latest and greatest your business has to offer.

Is your logo still modern or could it be refined to meet current design trends? Have you introduced social media? Is your website up to date, current, fresh & modern? Are your business and profile photo's current?

Benefits of a rebrand: -

1. Gain competitive advantage
2. Stimulate growth
3. Long-term market expansion
4. Innovation = profitability

At Design House I completely rebrand my website and promotional images at least every two years. Check out the new portfolio section of my website HERE!

NEED HELP? Business Social Media Start Up Package!

Twitter, Facebook, LinkedIn, Google Plus, YouTube, QR Reader ...

Social media marketing, has become one of the fastest methods of marketing a business over the past couple of years. By involving yourself in these online communities through conversations and media sharing, you are passively opening up opportunities for people to become potential clients.

Many professionals start out very sceptical about integrating social media marketing into their marketing plans. This is a mistake as these social networks I've mentioned have well over 500 million users between them. The users of these networks fit just about every demographic a business professional might be targeting.

THIS SAT 10km Challenge! in support of Derryn Hinch's Jail 2 Justice Walk!

"Until I decided to walk 180km from Langi Kal Kal Prison to Melbourne in my Jail 2 Justice campaign the longest I had walked in years was in Hervey Bay - from the caravan park to the pier and back.

That's why it is somehow fitting that there is a Hervey Bay connection this weekend with my campaign through your Enzo's to the Pier and return. I am honoured that Jeanette Maynes suggested to me that her free community walk should be a 10km Queensland celebration of ours.

The goal of Jail 2 Justice is twofold. To honour the families of the victims of crime. To 'walk a mile in their shoes'. And to draw attention to my petition for a national public register of convicted sex offenders. When I was released from jail in March we had 43,000 signatures. That figure has grown by more than 80,000 to 115,000.

The campaign, and the walk, have a strong Queensland connection. On the final day, next Monday, we walk from Brunswick – where Jill Meagher was killed – to Parliament House in Melbourne to present the petition to Victorian

"Help... Please! THIS IS AN APPEAL to police, to the courts, to the child welfare authorities, to the so-called protectors of this community. It is an appeal to sanity. And if I don't do this, I will never be able to forgive myself if something awful happens to another child. And, believe me, it will." - Derryn Hinch

Premier Denis Napthine.

Joining me on that final stage will be Daniel Morcombe's mum and dad, Denise and Bruce Morcombe. This amazing couple have endorsed my campaign.

Thanks for taking part this weekend. I believe Australian parents are angry, frustrated and scared about their children's futures. A new national law, outlined in my petition, is a start."

....In Australia, the rights of convicted sex offenders seem to take precedence over victims' rights. Especially with paedophiles. Serial sex offenders have their names, photos and addresses, suppressed by the courts on release..... We, the undersigned, insist, that by the end of 2014, the Australian governments, state and federal, through their attorneys-general, unite to publish an ongoing national public register of all convicted sex offenders similar to Megan's Law in the United States.
