DESIGN HOUSE WEBSITE UNDERGOES A REVAMP!

It's very important that every couple of years you give your business look a revamp / overhaul to keep in line with current design trends, if not sooner!

Websites require continuous refinement and improvement to keep content fresh and the look and feel visually pleasing.

A revamp does not mean one has to completely overhaul the website – do small incremental changes that lead to a new template design / website look, perhaps color revision or updated content.

If your website is out of date and obsolete it can potentially lose customers for your business.

While it is important that your website looks clean and professional, it is also important that you concentrate your efforts on the content, promotion of your product / services, the use of a simple straight forward navigation, incorporate social media, make sure it is mobile friendly and downloads fast!

Praescius Financial - A4 Brochure Design

"We gave Jeanette the brief to design our new office brochures and were delighted with what she up with. The end results have a real 'WOW' factor, which was exactly what we were looking for."

Jannean Dean 4 the Fraser Coast - Website, Business Cards, Facebook & Photography

Design House has truly impressed me beyond words. Jeanette Maynes' creative flair, response times, sensitivity to my design requests, intuitiveness, knowledge, communication, the availability of technical support, her collaborative approach, product, cost, brand, attention to detail... I could go on and on!

I highly recommend Design House as a web designer that is competent, talented and professional. Jeanette successfully took on my point of view for my project. By staying engaged, asking questions, and giving suggestions, my vision became her vision. This was important as the project was to transfer from my old website into a new management system that I will use for years come. Her straightforward programming not only produced an exact replica, but created a more efficient, intuitive, and complete website that has cut my administration time dramatically.

What I like best about Jeanette is that she is committed to getting it right and is a consummate problem solver. She always figured it out and delivered on her promise and on my vision. I'm confident she will deliver for you and your project as well.

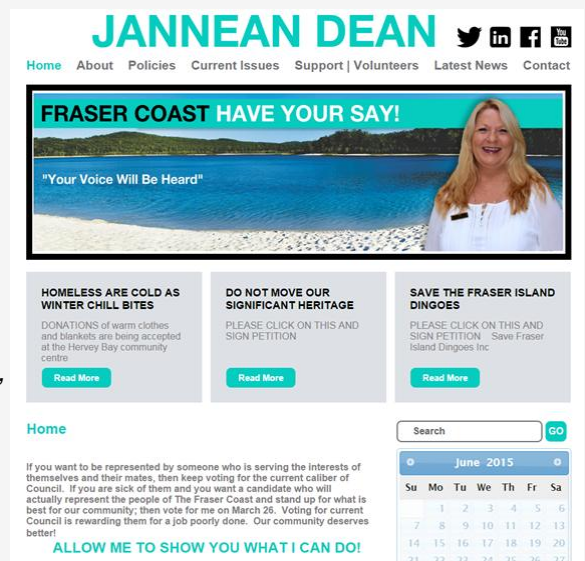

Thank you for offering a truly exceptional level of customer service, I am so glad I chose you.
